

Vocabulary revision

Film director Mr Day is having some problems with two young actors at rehearsal.

Read the text and fill in the gaps with words which fit the context. Many, but not all, the words are from Text smart 1. There's sometimes more than one possible answer.

Mr Day: No, no, no! We need to start again. –

Do you know what _____

of movie this is anyway?

_____, with aliens?

James: It's a vampire romance.

Mr Day: Exactly! A romance. So where's the

_____, Amanda? In this _____ shot the viewers are going to see everything in your face. They need to see some _____ !

Amanda: Well, he's a VAMPIRE! How can I feel

_____ and in love when he wants to bite me?

Mr Day: But you don't know he's a vampire yet!

Just think of how wonderful he is, and give him some _____ looks.

James: He's right. I mean, do I smell bad or something? You look _____ when you look at me.

Amanda: Er, your breath is kind of bad.

James: No, it's isn't! You're just in a bad mood because your dress is too tight. That's why you look so _____ .

Amanda: Are you telling me I'm _____ !?

Mr Day: Now don't get _____ ,

you two, or I'll find somebody else for your _____ ! So, let's start again. Amanda, this time with

_____ !

Amanda: Oh Richard, there's something, so...

_____ about you. You're so different... But... I see _____ in your eyes, something scary and, and –

(throws script down)

Oh, this is such a STUPID

_____ ! Mr Day, find

somebody else for this vampire

nightmare! And James, do something about your breath. I thought vampires _____ garlic, but you can't seem to get enough!

vampire [ˈvæmpaɪə] Vampir (Achtung Aussprache!) ○ garlic [ˈɡɑːlɪk] Knoblauch